

HISTOTECHNICIAN TECHNOLOGY

Delaware Technical & Community College • www.dtcc.edu/connecteddegree

An opportunity to gain an associate degree from Delaware Tech and a bachelor's degree from Wilmington University.

YOUR PATH TO A BACHELOR'S DEGREE

Delaware Tech has established agreements with four-year colleges and universities that connect Delaware Tech associate degree programs with bachelor's degree programs to create smooth transfer opportunities for you. These Connected Degree programs enable you to complete your associate degree and then transfer to a four-year degree program as a junior.

THE CONNECTED DEGREE 2 + 2 CURRICULUM

Delaware Tech's accredited associate degree program in Histotechnician Technology prepares students to integrate theoretical knowledge with the completion of human, animal, marine, or plant tissue specimens for research or diagnostic purposes. Students learn to perform complex molecular biology and genetic testing procedures using high-tech instruments. Along with employment opportunities in the medical field, histotechnicians may work in other fields including botany, marine biology, and pharmaceutical research. Graduates may sit for the Board of Registry American Society for Clinical Pathology Certification Exam.

Wilmington University's degree completion program in Allied Health Management is for Allied Health practitioners who have earned an associate degree with an Allied Health concentration. This program is for those Allied Health professionals who wish to advance their careers with a more administrative focus. The program allows practitioners to transfer most, if not all, of their credits from their initial education. The goal of the program is to provide expert practitioners in the Allied Health field with the knowledge and skill needed to advance in their careers.

VALUE FOR YOU

By completing your associate degree at Delaware Tech, you'll receive excellent instruction in small classes at a campus close to home. Delaware Tech's affordable tuition can reduce the overall cost of your college education, making the completion of your bachelor's degree more manageable.

MAKING THE CONNECTION
