

Water = Quality of Life
Documentary film
Financed by International Council of Delaware, an agency of the State of Delaware

Delaware Tech produced a film documentary Clean Water=Quality of Life for Bulgaria on the importance of operator training in the water sector. Sponsored by the Delaware Tech, this documentary was written and filmed by the Bulgarian Association of Broadcasters in Bulgaria. This movie was funded by a grant from the International Council of Delaware, an agency of the State of Delaware. Over 100 copies were released to members of the Bulgarian press, government officials, including Members of Parliament, the Energy and Water Regulator Commission members, professional societies, and educational institutions. It was shown on Bulgarian television, at several national Bulgarian conferences and was used in all of the operator training courses. It has been reviewed in the Bulgarian and English language media in Bulgaria. The film was translated from Bulgarian into English and both Bulgarian and English versions of the film have been transferred onto CDs. Clips of the film were shown on Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) Philadelphia. The film has garnered international attention and Delaware Tech continues to receive requests for showing of the film in other countries. It has been distributed widely in Bulgaria, other Eastern European countries, and the United States, and the Middle East. In 2008, it was shown to American, Jordanian, Central Asian and Nigerian government officials and water/wastewater industry experts.
