Terry Campus to Host Open House

DOVER- Delaware Technical & Community College's Terry Campus will host open houses on Tuesday, March 6 and Wednesday, March 28.

Anyone interested in learning more about the campus's technology programs, financial aid, athletics, student activities and more should go to the Education and Technology Building, room 727, on the Terry Campus from 6-8 p.m. All guests will have the opportunity to speak with college counselors, faculty and students and are invited to enjoy light refreshments. Tours will be given to acquaint guests with the campus facilities such as the science and nursing labs, the new culinary arts kitchen and the child development center.

Do not miss this opportunity to find out how Delaware Tech can put the earning power of an associate's degree within reach.

Terry Campus courses cater to full-time and part-time students with day, night and weekend classes offered locally at an affordable price. A variety of technical programs including health care, business, human services, and engineering technology will prepare students for a career to last the rest of their working lives. New entrepreneurship, paralegal and culinary arts programs add to the selection of technical study available.

Terry Campus provides access to education indiscriminately, so those who thought they could not attend college because of past class performance or economic status can think again. The college's open admissions policy and many scholarships will aid in reaching educational and career goals. Also, Delaware high school seniors can apply for the Student Excellence Equals Degree (SEED) scholarship program that will give eligible students the opportunity to attend Delaware Tech full-time with free tuition.

Terry Campus's dedicated staff and faculty work every day to help students achieve their goals through innovative instruction and high quality training. Since credits are transferable to over 60 other colleges, graduates have the option to later earn a bachelor's degree and more.

Hammerin' Hawks drumline, lacrosse, soccer and softball are now included with the many clubs and academic organizations that create a complete college experience.

Terry Campus's Corporate and Community Programs Division (CCP) offers business and corporate training opportunities that improve overall business productivity by meeting a company's specific needs. Individuals can strengthen their own professional skills to ensure a more prosperous future. Through Terry Campus's CCP anyone can take part in certification and licensure programs, personal enrichment, kid's summer camps, special interest courses and leisure activities that will enhance the body and mind.

Access, opportunity, excellence and hope are the hallmark values of an education at Delaware Tech. For more information please call the Terry Campus Admissions Office at 302-857-1020 or visit www.dtcc.edu/terry/.
