Terry Campus Honors Nursing Graduates

DOVER- The Delaware Technical & Community College, Terry Campus held a Nursing Class Pinning Ceremony recently to honor 30 graduating students from the associate degree nursing program.

The pinning ceremony commemorates a rite of passage into the graduate's new nursing career. The tradition of the nursing pin and the ceremonial pinning originated in the 1860's at the Nightingale School of Nursing at St. Thomas Hospital in London.

The evening was spent remembering the challenges of past classes and clinical studies then celebrating each student's accomplishments and future contributions in the medical field.
