Delaware Tech Offers Basic Life Support Course for Healthcare Providers

DOVER- Delaware Technical & Community College, Terry Campus is offering a course in basic life support to help all healthcare providers to recognize life-threatening emergencies, provide CPR, use an AED, and relieve choking in a safe, timely and effective manner.

The course is intended for healthcare providers such as physicians, nurses, paramedics, emergency medical technicians, respiratory therapists, physical and occupational therapists, physician assistants, residents or fellows, medical or nursing assistants and other licensed and unlicensed allied health personnel. This course will also be a definite benefit to police officers, correction officers, counselors, and others who deal with individuals who may be dealing with stressful situations.

Participants will be provided the American Heart Association "BLS for Healthcare Providers" textbook, a student CD-rom and certification cards after completion of this four-hour course. Interested individuals should call now as class sizes are limited. The cost is $79 and 0.4 CEU's will be awarded. Upcoming dates are July 8, 22, August 12, 26, September 2 and 23.
