Delaware Technical & Community College
Instructor Receives National Award

DOVER, DE- Entrepreneurship Program Instructor, Evie Zerefos of Delaware Technical & Community College was awarded a full scholarship to attend the 27th Annual Entrepreneurship Education Forum being held in Norfolk, Virginia, November 6-10, 2009. This scholarship was awarded for Zerefos' leadership and creativity in bringing entrepreneurship education to the schools.

The Consortium for Entrepreneurship Education (www.entre-ed.org) is a national membership association of 95 local, state, and national organizations that advocate entrepreneurship education as a lifelong learning process and provide programs for youth and adults. The conference in Norfolk brings more than 300 teachers together to share program ideas and establish nationwide networks.

In recognition of the need for teachers to have the opportunities for professional development in teaching entrepreneurship teacher scholarships were sponsored by the Coleman Foundation, the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Chicagoland Entrepreneurial Center, JA, NFIB-YEF, and the Burton Morgan Foundation.

Delaware Tech offers a wide variety of relevant, high quality programs in a friendly and nurturing environment. Innovative instruction is provided conveniently and affordably to meet the varied educational needs of motivated, focused, career-oriented people seeking pathways for success.
